

WILL THE REVOLUTION BREAK OUT IN MEXICO CITY ITSELF NOW IS THE QUESTION OF THE DAY

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF VICTORY OVER FRENCH MAY MEAN OUTBREAK OF NEW REVOLUTION.

WAITING DIAZ ANSWER

Meanwhile Federals Hold Several Points of Vantage But Insurgents Wiped Out One Command Near Eagle This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City, May 5.—Today is the anniversary of the battle of Puebla, which has been heralded as the date set for the attack on the capital by the revolutionists and the forced resignation of President Diaz.

Up to noon there has been no indication of disorder in any quarters. Reports of approaching trouble are still most plentiful, however.

The rebels are admittedly stronger today than they have ever been before.

Much Alarmed. Washington, May 5.—Increasing alarm is felt by the administration officials for the safety of Americans in Mexico, especially in the vicinity of Acapulco on the west coast.

Conditions were described to the state department today by Ambassador Wilson and it is probable that naval forces will be ordered to Acapulco at once. The matter has been taken up by Wilson as a result of a report that two men of the name of Goodman had been murdered by alleged revolutionary bandits near Acapulco.

Negotiations Suspended. El Paso, May 5.—Peace negotiations between the insurgents and the Mexican government were suspended to wait an answer from Mexico City to the proposition submitted yesterday by Madero, that President Diaz make public his intention to resign. The federal reports admitted they didn't expect a favorable answer.

Federals Safe Yet. Douglas, Ariz., May 5.—Official advice to the Mexican consul says that Mazatlan is still in the hands of the federal forces notwithstanding the reports to the contrary. The consul states the rebels attacked Mazatlan desperate on May 1st.

Gunboats Shout. Two gunboats anchored in Mazatlan harbor are reported to have thrown shells last night at the rebel lines, doing terrible execution.

Depends on Diaz. El Paso, Tex., May 5.—Peace in Mexico today depends absolutely on President Diaz, as a result of the statement sent to Carbanal, the Diaz envoy, demanding an immediate guarantee from Diaz that he will retire from the presidency. It is reported Diaz is willing to retire but wants six months in which to plan, at which the insurgent leaders fail to agree.

Offer Service. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City, May 5.—Paraguans here are preparing today to offer their services to the government in the face of the widespread anti-foreign feeling. The anti-american feeling is distinctly shown in reports from all parts of the republic and trouble is expected.

Later Advice. Advice to the state department late this afternoon from Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City reported the condition of surrounding foreigners as chaotic. The state departments characterized the situation as intolerable and is making strong representations to the Diaz government for the protection of American lives and property. Foreigners in Mexico City are leaving rapidly.

Wipe Out Command. Eagle Pass, Texas, May 5.—An entire federal command of one hundred and fifteen men was wiped out by two hundred and fifty insurgents, fifteen miles west of Sabinsburg, according to arrivals here today. Thirty insurgents were killed. Sabinsburg is seventy-three miles south of here.

Torreon Captured. San Antonio, Texas, May 5.—That Torreon, Mexico, has fallen into the hands of revolutionists is the news in a private telegram received here today.

MORE TESTIMONY IS HEARD AT TRIAL OF JOHN DIETZ TODAY

Interest in Trial is Becoming More Intense—Important Witnesses Testified Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Hayward, May 5.—The Dietz trial was resumed today. Interest is becoming more intense as the case progresses. Capt. Robert Crane, the state's gun expert from Milwaukee, who examined all the guns and ammunition found in the Dietz cabin after the flight, was today dismissed at the instance of the prosecution. The following witnesses were called by Dietz: A. G. Stewart, artist, Cameron; H. G. Ellsworth, barron; Dr. Schmidt, Mayville; and C. E. Droughton, Shelbyville.

Fred Thorbahn, chief of Sheriff Madden's "army," which effected the arrest of Dietz, will arrive in Hayward today from Montana to give testimony at the trial. He is held by the prosecution to be one of their best witnesses. Dietz is said to have admitted to Thorbahn that he (Dietz) fired several times at the deputies and at Thorbahn, especially, whom he wanted to get above all others.

It was rumored here this afternoon that Thomas Navotney, the St. Paul gun expert will come to Hayward to testify in place of Captain Kane of Milwaukee.

In his trial John Dietz scored his first victory in forcing Fred Van Alstyne, into admission that he to was firing in the direction of Deputy Harp when the latter was killed. This may clear Dietz and his family of the murder charge. The state attorney's hostile witness the witness.

District Attorney Williams at noon had only fifteen more witnesses beside Thorbahn and expected to close Saturday night or Monday morning. Dietz will call less than fifteen witnesses.

EXILED EMPRESS IS EIGHTY-FIVE TODAY

Eugenie, Once First Lady of Land in France, Spending Declining Years of Life in England.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, May 5.—The ex-Empress Eugenie, whom some writers are in the habit of speaking of as the most tragic figure in all modern history, reached her eighty-fifth birthday anniversary today and the occasion was marked by the receipt of congratulatory messages from kings and queens, statesmen, churchmen, scientists and other persons of distinction throughout Europe. In spite of her age she is in good health, and takes an active interest in everything around her.

Of Scotch and Spanish extraction the former Empress, in spite of the series of dramatic events which have clouded her life, is still a remarkably handsome woman, and she has still much of the charm that stirred the admiration of the spectators of her marriage with the Emperor Napoleon in Notre Dame.

Since 1859 Eugenie has resided at Farnborough Hill, Ham, in a great house, surrounded by venerable trees. Prior to taking up her residence at Farnborough she had lived at Chislehurst, where the Emperor died, and which place she left because she could not obtain there the land for a mausoleum for her dead. Some twenty-five years ago she erected the buildings, known as the church and abbey of St. Michael, which in 1896 she transferred to the monks.

Standing on the crown of the hill opposite her present residence Eugenie is able to see the face of supphor of her husband and son from her windows. To the mortuary chapel she goes daily to pray. There is an altar, before which a monk says mass with only one mortal auditor. Every one also is excluded while the unhappy wife and mother it within. An armchair is placed at the foot of each of the two sarcophagi wherein lie the remains of Napoleon III. and the Prince Imperial, and first in one and then in the other the ex-Empress often sits alone in prayer. Both tombs are decorated with floral wreaths and scattered flowers. Of the latter violets are the most numerous, and some of these are taken away as mementos by the visitors who are admitted when the ex-Empress has gone.

The mausoleum was built by Eugenie at a total cost of over $500,000. Behind the magnificent altar, on either side of which are the two granite sarcophagi, is a small door leading into the mausoleum which has recently been built into the wall. It was designed by French architects, and is of stone throughout. This new work forms the framework of a tomb which is unique in England, if not in the world. In this tomb the former Empress will be interred when in the fullness of time she comes to die.

Election Expenses: Statements of election expenses were filed with City Clerk May M. Cummings yesterday by M. P. Richardson and W. C. Rehfeld. The former spent $3 and the latter $18.55, none dollars for carriages hire and live dollars for cigars.

Plan Changed: The plans of the Knights of Columbus with regard to the initiation of candidates, have been changed. By a late arrangement, the conferring of the first degree will not take place tonight as originally planned, but all the work will be given at Monroe on Sunday.

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN BIG DEMONSTRATION

New York, May 5.—Plans for the great suffrage parade down Fifth Avenue tomorrow afternoon are all completed. The promoters declare the demonstration will exceed anything of the kind ever given in this country.

The evolution of woman from the sedan chair days to the present athletic age will be shown in the procession, with trades and politics brought in. Leading the procession will be a big banner carried by three young women representing Political Union and the College Suffrage League.

Following the leading banners will come a file and drum corps and Scottish Pipers. The first part of the procession will represent the early days and the woman of that time. Floats will show woman in the earlier home industries, weaving and spinning, which have now been taken from the home and put into manufacturing.

Women in industrial pursuits will follow in squads, and next will be women farmers, actresses, artists, models and writers. A woman's band will march next, leading the business women, social workers, women who drive their own motor cars, aeromats and explorers, and a woman balloon maker, who will carry a balloon instead of a banner.

College women will march in caps and gowns, and there will be women ministers as well as women doctors, lawyers, engineers, architects and teachers. There will also be a representation from the Men's Equal suffrage League and a delegation of girl shirtwaist makers who will carry a crimson banner draped in black.

As far as possible every one will be on foot. A carriage however will be provided for the suffrage pioneers—women who attended the first suffrage convention in the world, that at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848. In this will be Mrs. Willis of Rochester, Mrs. Greenleaf of the same city, Miss Rhoda Palmer and Mrs. Antoinette Brown Blackwell.

MEASURE WILL BE MADE SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS IN THE ASSEMBLY ON TUESDAY.

PASSAGE IS EXPECTED

Expenditures Limited and Other Requirements Made To Prevent Election Corruption.—Bills Passed Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, May 5.—Completed after two months of labor by the executive committee aided by the Governor and members of the legislature, the corrupt practices act, a progressive republican platform pledge, was today made a special order of business in the assembly for next Tuesday.

Ultimate passage of the measure is expected and with few changes. Limitations of expenditures by candidates, designation of the purpose for which expense may be incurred and a plan for campaign publicity form the basis of the act.

Bills Passed By Senate. The Senate passed the following bills: by Denmark, prohibiting the sale of liquor at auctions; by Clifton, permitting railways to issue free oil or reduced transportation rates to land agents; the Bishop bill authorizing the reconstruction of the Pleasant Prairie Powder Mill recently destroyed, but limiting the amount of explosives to be kept on hand and prohibiting the storage of dynamite to one place, and the measure to require railways of Wisconsin to install block signal systems.

The two former measures now go to the governor.

Refuse To Reconsider Bill. The assembly refused to reconsider the Shultz sterilization bill by a vote of 32 to 42. This measure which was killed last week would affect the criminal insane and bitterly opposed by Assemblyman John H. Jones, who likened it unto the killing of a cowman who reached the age of sixty.

Assemblyman night of Hayfield, spoke vigorously for the measure's passage.

Governor's Appointments. Governor McGovern sent his appointments of Charles H. Crowhart and Prof. John H. Commons as members of the new state Industrial Insurance committee to the senate. Action by that body was deferred until Monday, because of the absence of a quorum.

THREE MORE HOUSES
CLOSED AT EDGERTON

During the Past Week But Work of Handling 1910 Crop Is Not Entirely Completed.

There is some work yet to be done at the warehouse before the handling of the 1910 is finished, though three warehouses have closed in this market during the week, according to the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter of May 4th.

A few attractive lots have been delivered, but business in last season's crop is very poorly at an end. The A. T. Co. closed their Janesville branch Wednesday, finishing their working operations in the state, but the remaining at Madison will continue through the summer.

The market for old leaf continues in practically the same dull condition with transactions invariably of a small order nature. We learn that about 3000 of '08 has been sold by Janesville and Brodhead packers during the week.

The young plants are said to be showing up plentifully on the recently sown plant beds, though we have had several quite severe frosts during the week, but the cannaes during have probably protected them from injury.

The shipments out of storage reach 500 cases to all points for the week from this market.

The month of March shows an active condition of trade in all branches of the tobacco manufacturing business. A most satisfactory increase in the total internal revenue collection is revealed, and each individual branch of the tobacco industry made a substantial gain over the corresponding month of 1910.

Burial Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, May 4.—The remains of Miss Maria L. Sherman were brought here yesterday from Sioux Falls, S. D., for burial in the family lot in Fawcett cemetery.

Had she lived until May 3 she would have been 63 years of age.

FIRE ENGINE TEST
ON THE RIVER BANK

Equipment of Fire Department Given
Try-out This Morning in Alley at Rear of South Main Street Stores.

With engines and pumps of the Alton steam fire engine, purchased last year by the city for the fire department, working in perfect order, members of the fire department this morning conducted a test of the machine in the alley on the east bank of the river, the pipes used for that purpose being laid and the stream pumped out through the hose was turned back into the stream. The engine was worked to its full capacity, with a pressure of two hundred and forty pounds to the inch at the engine. All four hose attachments at the pumps were used in part of the tests and the stream diverted out through two leads of hose. Two of the inch and an eighth size nozzles were used, then the inch and a quarter and finally the inch and three-eighths. With the pumps forcing the water through the hose as far with as much pressure as possible, a stream of water about two hundred feet in height, higher than any of the buildings in Janesville, was thrown. An interested crowd of spectators watched the manipulations of the engine and hose.

Janesville Park Association To Be Formally Launched By Meeting of Stockholders.

While all the funds needed for the purchase and improvements desired for the fair grounds, the promoters of the scheme have decided they have enough to go ahead and make their initial step at forming a stock company by calling a meeting of all stockholders for next Thursday evening at seven o'clock, to meet in the City Hall assembly room. Charles Putnam stated this morning "While we still have not enough money to finish all our desired changes we feel that we have enough to go ahead and perfect our organization. The articles of incorporation are being prepared today and will be sent to the Secretary of State at Madison, at once so we can come into actual possession of the property as soon as possible."

"We have decided upon the name, Janesville Park Association, which will cover all the purposes the new park is going to be used for. Of course we will seek more subscriptions, but we have enough to be assured we can purchase the property."

This assures Janesville with a pleasure park and general recreation grounds that has long been needed.

Mr. Echlin will leave for Chicago soon after his retirement, where he will enter the manufacturing agency business, but just what line of goods he will handle has not as yet been definitely decided. The retiring president of the firm has held the above office since the death of his father and the incorporation of the business under their present name, the incorporation taking place on October 23, 1904.

Among the members of the trade, Mr. Echlin is recognized as one of the foremost men today in the saddle hardware manufacture in the country and through his untiring effort and judicious management has added in building up one of the largest businesses in Janesville. Although his retirement will be felt in the firm, the work will be ably carried on under the management of H. H. and J. W. Echlin, treasurer and vice-president of the present company respectively.

After graduation from the high school in 1880, Mr. Echlin entered the business with his father. At this time the firm name was Bassett, Hiles and Echlin and a wholesale harness and saddlery business was conducted in the building now occupied by the McManara hardware company on W. Milwaukee street, the place having been fitted up expressly for them by the late Peter Myers.

In 1883 Mr. Hiles retired from the firm and after this the business was conducted under the name of Bassett, Echlin, Saddlery Company. The actual manufacture of harness was begun about fifteen years ago in the quarters on Milwaukee street and at that time there were three men employed in the work. In 1901 the concern was moved to the building at the corner of Court and Park streets, but owing to the increase in the output of harness and the additional manufacture of collars, it was found necessary to remove to the larger quarters next to this place several years ago.

At present the company is one of the foremost in its line in the west and they have between 75 and 80 men on their pay roll. About ten salesmen are handling the goods on the road and from six to eight states are covered by their output. The officers to be chosen will not be elected until a meeting of the directors after the departure of the retiring president, the conducting of the business however, will be under the direction of Samuel H. and Joseph W. Echlin.

ARBOR DAY OBSERVED
AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Special Exercises Were Held This Morning by Students Under Teachers' Directions.

Arbor Day was observed at the high school this morning. The morning exercises were turned over to Miss Armstrong, instructor of botany in the local high school. Miss Armstrong chose a bird theme, "The Passenger Pigeon," for the finding of an occupied nest of which one thousand dollars is offered.

The passenger pigeon is a bird of about 15 inches in length. It has a dark slate colored back, a wine colored breast shading to white, and two black spots on each of its wings. Often the bird is confused with the common mourning dove, which is much smaller, being only twelve inches long. The pigeon builds its nest of twigs, at a height of about 10 or 15 feet from the ground. The bird lays just one egg, which is long in proportion to its width and pure white. The egg is about 1 1/2 inches long. The bird has wonderful powers of endurance. It migrates north every spring and returns to the Gulf states in the fall.

The earliest record of this bird is 1867, when they were ravaging certain territories. In the '60s and '70s they were plentiful and were slaughtered by the millions.

At that time they sold for from 40c to a dollar a dozen. Now for the finding of one occupied nest with either an egg or a young bird in it, you can get $1,000. All that is necessary for you to do is find the nest, preserve it, and inform C. P. Hodge, of the Clark University, Worcester, Mass.

Oil Business a Vast One.

This includes the production, refining and shipping of petroleum, as also the manufacturing of petroleum products.

You Can't Beat Janesville and Southern Wisconsin

Within the past few days two different parties have returned to Janesville after several months' sojourn in various parts of the United States. One of these parties has been through the West to the Pacific Coast—the other through the South as far as Florida and up the Atlantic Coast to New York, back through the various states to Chicago, and both make practically the same statement that there is no city or country through which they have passed that seemed to them so beautiful and so attractive as Janesville. The same expression comes from them as has been given by many other travelers, "that it seems good to get back to God's country."

The fact that so many people say the same thing must have more than passing significance, so that when you yourself feel disgruntled with the city, just remember these expressions of people who have felt the same way and who have left Janesville. It has had the proper effect and you would find the same conditions as have these other people, and you would be glad to get back again to "God's Country."

We who live among conditions which are really far better than are found in nine-tenths of the communities of this whole country, are apt to become calloused to the good that is around us and to make superficial complaints. Could we have the experience with the outer world as have these other folks, it would change our viewpoint immediately and make us constant, everlasting boosters.

If you have any thought that there is a silver cloud at some other point, just look around nearby and get in touch with some person who has traveled afar. When you do that, give vent to your feelings and tell other people of the splendid opportunities and the excellent home spirit which prevails here. There may be somebody among your friends whom you could interest in Janesville. Why not write them today?

UNVEILED STATUE OF GREAT DISCOVERER

Honor Paid To Dr. Draper, Who Made First Camera, on Centennial Anniversary of Birth. (Special to this Gazette.)

New York, May 5.—A large and interested audience attended the exercises held at New York University this afternoon in celebration of the centennial anniversary of the birth of the late Dr. John William Draper, whose improvement of the process of Daguerro enabled him to take the first photograph of the human face.
Draper had believed that no man could ever reproduce the human countenance, but Dr. Draper's discovery of the chemical action of light showed that it was possible, and he made a likeness of his sister, Miss Dorothy Draper.

The first photograph gallery ever established was set up in 1840 by Dr. Draper in the old New York University building, where Professor Morse, inventor of the telegraph, and Dr. Draper took pictures with a camera made of a cigar box and spectacle lens.
Dr. Draper gained distinction also by explaining the purification of the blood by the lungs. With films of thin material and soap bubbles he showed that gases pass freely through thin partitions of many substances till the pressure of the gas on either side is equal, and that in this way the oxygen taken in the lungs passes through the blood and is absorbed, while the carbon dioxide in the blood passes into the lungs and is exhaled.
Dr. Draper was born in England, May 5, 1811, and came to the United States in 1833. He took a degree in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and was appointed professor of chemistry in Hampton-Sydney College. From there he came to New York University, where he occupied the chair of chemistry until his death in 1882.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Indiana Farmer Is Formally Accused of Killing Workman.

Fowler, Ind., May 5.—John. Poole was formally charged with the murder of Joseph Kemper in the county jail here. He entered a plea of not guilty. The arraignment took place inside the walls of the prison because of Sheriff Shackleton's increasing fear for the safety of his prisoner. So great a throng collected in the courthouse to witness the proceedings and so boisterous did it become that the sheriff gathered the various law officers about him and secretly repaired to the jail.
When the crowd found how it had been tricked it shifted ground and the various members took up places of vantage outside the jail. A number endeavored to gain entrance, but found the doors locked. No violence resulted, however. The prisoner was held to the grand jury of Benton county without bail.
When he had pleaded not guilty to the formal charge of murder in the first degree, Poole endeavored to explain that he would admit the killing, but wished it understood that it was accidental.

WIDOWS TO BE GIVEN PENSIONS.

Kansas City Judge Prepares to Apply New Missouri Law.

Kansas City, Mo., May 5.—Judge Porterfield of the juvenile court is taking the first step toward putting in force in Jackson county the widow's pension law passed by the last legislature. Already five widows have applied to him for allowances. The object of the law is to enable poor widows to keep their children under fourteen years old in school.

A MAY MILLINERY SHOW

A number of brand new hats go on display tomorrow morning that nobody but the milliners and the writer have had the pleasure of seeing. This showing represents newness with a vengeance, but it is the best kind of newness—that born of experience. Styles are set, then they must run the gauntlet of public opinion—you slash at them as they pass in review. We stand and study. The May styles are the safe styles, and they will be at their best here tomorrow. Many of the new hats, both tailored and dress hats, bear unusually attractive prices.

The Church—Its Danger and Security

By REV. W. G. CURRY

TEST—Awake, awake, put on thy strength; O Zion—Isaiah LII, 1.

Jehovah spoke this when Judaism had fallen into great weakness. Enemies beset on every side. The church has often had its times of moral weakness. Deliverance always came. The slumbering giant not only awoke but exerted himself. A deep slumber prevailed when Christ came. Great systems of idolatry prevailed. The true God was high forgotten. The Saviour gathered a little band around him and went forth. With matchless strength they attacked the powers and Satan's kingdom was shaken. Another crisis came—papal corruption. Pure Christianity slept beneath gaudy trappings of Catholicism, movements for freedom were watched, and dungeons were filled with those who dared look up. "Awake awake!" was sounded. Martin Luther arose to restore spirituality. Since then the truth has been gaining power. When we consider the facilities we have, the outlook is now hopeful.

There is another side.

1. The church is threatened with danger.

1. Danger from peculiar activity and excitability of the times in which we live—entirely an earnest age. New discoveries, new forces appearing. Law of change is everywhere. Wonderful schemes claim public attention. Science, art are ever presenting new questions. Our minds and hands are full; never was there more activity. It is not an unfortunate condition. We would not lock the wheels of progress, and demand the age back to the darkness of the past. In the midst of the excitement, we are in danger of infection, unless there be a corresponding earnestness in Christian character. Our danger is inability to control these forces. We are too much controlled by them. We are being permeated by the spirit of the world, instead of permeating it with our spirit. We must show a religion full of life and energy—not a cold, sleepy religion.

2. The tendency to innovation. We believe all essentials are clearly revealed in the Scriptures. Yet we think more light and improved methods may be employed. But from Germany comes a spirit that would say our foundations. It has found its way into our theological schools, and is poisoning the minds of the rising ministry. They tell us that reason and not faith must be the guide. They have discovered the Bible is an antiquated book, and the gospel too cold. They would take away the Bible as a perfect rule of faith and practice. The danger lies in having our minds alienated from the simplicity of the gospel, and a desire to seek the novelties. We need now more than ever before to cry for the old paths.

3. In danger from the increasing boldness and energy of the enemies of Christianity. We are no longer attacked by a few, but the ranks are strong and the infidelity declares its truths to be the only truths. It has never displayed so much determination. It is widespread and is with men in daily walks; is in politics, in the legislature, and has taken hold upon the public press. The world is flooded with its literature. Vast multitudes listen to infidelity's modern apostle.

In the light of all these facts have we not cause for alarm? Are we in a condition to successfully contend with these forces? The church is not putting forth her strength. She has had smooth sailing a long time, and sleeps.

II. What are the elements of strength.

1. Sound doctrine. In these days of laxness and insouciance we need to contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints. The doctrines of depravity, atonement and salvation by grace must be emphasized. Let this be done, and infidelity will not affect the religion of personal experience.

2. Spiritual life. We need a heightened spirituality, a religion that enters into all our social and business relations, giving color and shape to the daily life.

How shall this strength, which God calls on us to exert, be put on? It is not physical, but spiritual strength that we need. It must be put on upon our knees.

His Saving Power. Jesus said: "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth; go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen."

He displayed His wonderful power while here upon earth. His miracles were a definite attestation to His mission. He claims and exercises that saving, helping power—a power not now limited by physical conditions. An might have been changed in His earthly life, but a power which flows with authority from the mediatorial throne on which He reigns.

Sweet Drinks in France. Probably one-half the drinks served in the cafes of France are syrups diluted with water or ordinary siphon soda. Such drinks cost 8 or 15 cents a glass in the cafes, and yet the conspicuous soda-water fountain of the United States is seen but rarely in France, and then only in the large cities through which the American tourist passes.

Chloroform Zoo Animals. The practice of cutting the claws of the more ferocious animals of the London zoological garden has recently been greatly facilitated by chloroforming the animals. Heretofore it was done by sheer force by a squad of men, the animal being first secured by ropes.

REHBERG'S

This shoe department of ours is proving mighty popular of late. Select your shoes from a representative stock. Men's, women's and children's shoes.

YOU KNOW THIS STORE as a "pennant winner," we've been heading the first division for a good many years; we've been "first" in style, "first" in quality and "first" in service. You know, too, how essential "team work" is. We have enlisted the services of the Nation's best designers, rather than depend upon a single maker. We have been "playing the game" in a clean, thorough, conservative way—the way you like. We've always realized we serve ourselves best by serving you best, your satisfaction has ever been our goal. We're going to carry off this year's clothing pennant, too.

NOTHING that ought to be embodied in good clothes has been "sacrificed" in our $14.50 line of suits for men and young men. You'll notice, when you see them, that they are tailored and styled as you would want them, and fashioned from fabrics that are thoroughly good. A size for every man.

WE'VE "stolen a base" on all clothiers in our $25 suits. You'll marvel at them, and delight in choosing from the English and more conservative models we're showing. They're an achievement based on experience; it took us all the years we've been in business to do anything as good as this.

YOU'LL "play safe" on our $20 line of suits. In fact you can get a $22.50 or $25 suit at this price now—broken assortments developed by a tremendous Easter business. Some of the suits are the soft rolling lapel English effects without padding.

OUR higher priced displays at $30.00 are splendid; we know you'll like them. And you'll realize when you see them how much easier and more satisfactory it is to see made up garments on your back than gamble on the possible outcome of goods in the piece. The best fabrics that looms produce.

YOU younger men and youths would be really conferring a favor upon yourselves by personally seeing just how much we've done for you. Here we don't try to make you old before your time, nor younger than your dignity demands. We've striven to outfit your particular "age of man" in the right way. Youth's suits $10 to $30.

YOU'LL notice quite a change in trouser styles this season, extreme peg tops seem to be waning. But a lot of men don't like to be first to wear the new things, so we've made our displays contain both the regular styles and the new ones. Our showing rises in easy stages from $3.00 to $7.00, with a remarkably fine lot at $5.00.

Haberdashery

THERE'S plenty of "dash" about it but very little noise; you as a very good dresser, don't indorse "loud" stuff anyway. Want to tell you about soft turnback cuff shirts with detachable collars. Wear a white linen collar with them or the soft collar as you prefer. Madras and chambray models at $1.00 and $1.50, mercerized ones at $2.00 and $2.50.

In the Children's Department

CHILDREN'S SUITS, 2 to 10 years. Suits in sailor and Russian styles, with sailor and Byron collars. Fine serges, fancy worsteds and cashmeres. Tomorrow at $2.50

CHILDREN'S WASH suits, 2½ to 7 years, exclusive designs in foreign and domestic fabrics, made by the best manufacturers, 50c, $1.50, $1.95 and up to $2.50

BOYS' AND YOUTHS' HATS, the best hat values we've shown in many a day—20 different blocks in telescopic and trooper styles. Excel $1.00 (Universal), $1.50; Brighton $2.00 and Elite, tomorrow, $2.50

BOYS' SUITS, 8 to 10 years, 2 and 3 button, double breasted models with full peg cut knickerbockers. Made from plain serges, fancy blue and brown striped worsteds, homespun, cashmeres and chevilles, priced at $8.50

CHILDREN'S SUITS 2½ to 10 years. Finest pure wool, fancy worsteds, sailor or Russian style. Handsomely trimmed. Exceptional values at $5.00

BOYS' UNDERWEAR, 21 to 34 sizes. Both union and two piece suits in Poroskalt and ballbearing regular and athletic styles. Prices at tomorrow's sale only 50c; 75c and $1.00

BOYS' SUITS, 8 to 18 years, single and double breasted models with center or side vents, long graceful lapels, strictly hand tailored, finest foreign and domestic fabrics, blue serges and fancy woolsens, tomorrow at $10.00

BOYS' BLOUSES, 6 to 17 years; neckband or collar attached. Made of percales and madras or soft modgees, solitaires with high or low collar attached. 50c, 75c, $1.00

BOYS' AND YOUTHS' shirts, 12 to 17½. Plain or plaid boxers, many lines have collar to match. Made from fine percales, madras and solitaires, 50c and up to $1.00

The New Hats

YOU'LL see models here that show we haven't been sleeping on "third." We have ferreted out a lot of new models that aren't hampered by tradition. They're handsome looking—neatly built—color retaining in the latest shapes and colors. Everyone guaranteed. A complete assortment awaits your critical inspection. $1.00 to $3.00.

Spring Shoes and Oxfords

Your idea of shoes probably have "comfort" at the head of the list; the style may be fine and the leather handsome, but if the fit isn't right you won't get much pleasure out of a shoe. So we back up our shoe stock with salesmen who are careful, painstaking and conscientious. We figure that you would rather take a little longer time to buy than be hustled out in pain. Of course the styles and leathers are superb, we wouldn't be doing such a big healthy business if they weren't. We offer men's shoes and oxfords $2.50 to $5.00. Ladies' shoes and oxfords $3.00 to $4.00.

THREE STORES—Clothing, Shoes and Furnishings—ON THE BRIDGE

THEATER

One of the many features to be presented by John W. Vogel's City Minstrels, which will appear at the Myers Theatre Thursday, May 11, is a beautiful up-to-date dancing number, entitled "The Great Event." The idea was conceived by Manager Vogel and arranged by Barney Fagin, the world's master producer of brilliant dances and spectacular movements. The scene is laid at the famous Sheephead Bay race course, and the practicing thoroughbreds are at the post awaiting the signal for the start; they get the word "They're off," hoof-beats are heard in the distance and immediately after the finish the jockeys appear, neatly attired in the regulation colors, representing the world's famous owners and stake winners.

William Rowe, the famous and world-renowned solo dog dancer, has been engaged to rehearse and produce the act in the absence of Mr. Fagin, whose foreign engagements prevent his doing so.

"The Inter Ocean" Chicago, Feb. 6, 1911.

Francis Macmillan has made for himself a name in proportion to his deserts. If one judge by the size and interest of the audience gathered yesterday afternoon at the Studebaker Theatre. After every number the applause was spontaneous and long-and Rondo Capriccioso composed the third group, and the Ernst P sharp minor concerto ended the recital.

Mr. Macmillan is the proud possessor of a facile technique. His left hand is sure and fleet, his bow-arm developed to an unusual amount of ability. His tone leaves much to be imagined as to warmth at times; while in other moments it is of ravishing beauty. His phrasing is excellent. He has the born virtuoso's folio of setting fast tempo very fast and slow tempo at a deliberate pace. This trick was especially in evidence during the Saint-Saens and the Bach numbers.

Within the emotional limits of the concerto, Mr. Macmillan develops many marvelous beauties. With the Mozart rondo, for example, he plays as a master plays, with this—The sparkling theme, the graceful melody, covers in line and refined though they be, he vitalizes with such seductive inflections that the sense of their slight emotional meaning is magnified. It is this division of the spirit that makes his reading of the Bach Chaconne a distinguished performance. It was poetic imagination and deep realization, illuminating fire and deep reflection; the sum total was a performance which evoked loud applause, and the demand for an encore was a worthy tribute to Mr. Macmillan's study. Mr. Macmillan showed mastery of technique, command of light and shade, under all sorts of conditions of tempo, and admirable understanding of dramatic values. The recital ended with a clever performance of Beethoven's sharp minor concerto. Macmillan will appear at Myers Theatre Tuesday evening, May 16.

"THE ROBBERY."

At the present day when so many plays are being presented which deal with questionable subjects, it is a relief to turn to drama which breathes purity and good fellowship and leads the way to a brighter view of life and humanity.

Such a play is "The Robbery," written by Edward E. Ross, expressly for Messrs. Gaskill and MacVitty, and is produced by them.

The theme of the play concerns a man and a woman happily married and surrounded by every luxury that money and culture can secure. But the husband is an unbeliever and the wife, without faith of any kind.

There is a jarring note in the household harmony, a personality at war

Sports of all Sorts

Baseball Notes.

In "Pitcher Weaver" it looks as if Frank Chance had annexed another "King" Cole.

Cincinnati's new steel and concrete grandstand will be patterned after the structure in Pittsburgh.

Jack Knight, who has played first third and short, is now playing gentleman ball at second for the Highlanders.

With Cobb, Bush and Crawford on spending terms once more, the Detroit Tigers are a mighty hard bunch to beat.

In the first ten games of the season Frank Schulte of the Cubs made twelve hits, including three homers, one triple and four doubles.

Philadelphia fans are happy over the good showing of the Quakers and claim that Manager Doolin got the best of the big trade with Cincinnati.

Lajoie and Jackson are doing great work with the stick for Cleveland, but the Naps need pitchers in order to keep up in select company.

With Pitchers Marquard and Raymond doing their share of the work, the Giants should stick pretty close to the top in the National League races.

Ten put-outs in one game for an old soldier who started his major league career in 1894. Mr. Frederick Clarke, manager of the Phillies—that's him.

Pitcher Ward of the Brooklyn New England League team, is the first leaver in the East to pitch a no-hit no-run game this season. Havens was the victim.

The veteran Jack Powell in pitching good ball for the St. Louis Browns. Jack has been in the game a good many years, but is still there with the puzzling slant.

Last year the Boston Red Sox capped just three games from the Athletics, but this season the Red Sox got a better start and have already taken three from the champions.

Manager Jennings of the Tigers is saving "Wild Bill" Donovan for the warm weather games. When Old Sol sets fire to your collared collar is the time the only William starts things.

Another case of a catcher making good at first base. Alva Williams, who took Jake Stahl's place, is proving quite a sensation with the Boston Americans. He caught for Buffalo last season.

With the Boxers.

Freddie Welsh and Phil Brock have been matched to box near Cleveland in June.

Johnny Conlon and Phil McGovern will clash in a return bout in New Orleans next month.

Albert Palzer, ex-champion heavyweight of New York, has signed for a bout with Carl Morris at Tulsa, Okla., July 4.

After a short rest at his home in Indianapolis, Ray Bronson says, he will be ready to mingle with any of the lightweights looking for work.

MILTON COLLEGE NINE DEFEATED ALBANY TEAM

Hotly Contested Ten Inning Contest Went to College Team With Score 10 to 9.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, May 5.—Milton college defeated the team representing the "Modern Woodmen" from Albion, Thursday, in the tenth inning, by the score of 10 to 9. The Woodmen team was greatly strengthened by the use of the Milton town team's battery—Miller and Whitet. The pitchers for both teams were hit freely, but were steady in pitching. Three base hits were made by Sorenson, Gaby and Miller. Whitet was hurt in the eighth inning so that he had to retire from the game.

Darwin and Wallace.

In 1858 Wallace sent to Darwin a paper in which he sketched the outlines of a theory identical with that upon which Darwin had so long been at work. The same sequences that led Darwin to the discovery of natural selection and its consequences had led Wallace to the very threshold of the same discovery; but in Mr. Wallace's mind the theory had by no means been wrought out to the same degree of completeness to which it had been wrought in the mind of Mr. Darwin.

continued. The explanation is to be found in the undoubted virtuosity of the violinist. The few exceptions justly to be taken are also the peculiarities of the virtuoso as a class. The exacting program chosen for the occasion was calculated to exhibit Mr. Macmillan's preferences and the recital as a whole was a splendid achievement.

The violinist chose Mozart's Andante and Rondo as his first number. The classic elegance of style seemed to appeal to Mr. Macmillan and its brilliant passages, with their complementary melodic themes, brought out some of the best playing of the afternoon. The Bach Chaconne followed; and, in passing, it is worthy of note that, insofar as technique can accomplish a masterly performance, the severe test of the violinist was done effectively. ## TO PARENTS.

A Chicago writer tells the story of a pathetic army—the crowd of at least 3,000 who gather every morning about the gates of the stockyards.

It is a motley army. In it are young and old, men, women and children and grandmothers, sturdy working people and half cripples, and they are about the gates for an hour, until the few chosen are selected—at 15 cents an hour for hard labor—and then the majority turn away to come back next morning.

When times are hard the army grows to 5,000.

These are unskilled laborers, who have nothing to sell but the use of their muscles, the army of the unemployed who keep the wages at the stockyards down to the minimum.

And they are glad when they can get a few hours at the pitiful wage.

The teaching is plain. Bring it home to you by picturing to yourself your child as a part of that pitiful throng struggling for the pittance that will keep body and soul together. And—

Have your child learn a trade!

Aside from the schooling, every boy and girl should know some trade or employment by which the boy or girl is able to make a living.

In these days of manual training and night schools and vacation opportunities it is easily possible.

Note this: In Europe certain of the royal families insist that not only the princes, but the princesses, be taught some trade or handicraft by which they may be able to support themselves if necessary.

In your child any better than the child of a king? Besides—

Your boy will be all the better lawyer or preacher or editor or farmer if he has learned the use of tools; your daughter will be all the better business woman or wife or mother if she is able to make an independent living.

Doubtless could you see that spectacle at the stockyards just one morning—that hapless, helpless, half starved army—it would set you to thinking of your child's possible future.

Safeguard that future by a training of the hand along with the training of the head.

Fortune is fickle, and you do not know what may happen when you are dead.

ALLEGED GRAFTER IS PARDONED

Edward McCann, Former Chicago Police Inspector Is Liberated.

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—Governor Deneen, on recommendation of the state board of pardons, issued a pardon to former Police Inspector Edward McCann of Chicago, now serving a term in Joliet prison on a charge of grafting.

The pardon of McCann was the result of what many considered the most remarkable appeal in behalf of a convicted felon ever made in this state.

Before the board of pardons, sitting in Joliet April 24, a delegation of more than two hundred persons—settlement workers, clergymen, labor leaders, business men and representatives of the city and state governments made an appeal for McCann's pardon. Some said that the evidence on which he was convicted was insufficient or perjured. They all declared that his past record was good.

Rumors that in case Mrs. HicHBorn is divorced Wylie will seek freedom from his wife are stoutly denied by the friends of both families, who insist that the reports of an elopement are unjustified and that in the end all will be satisfactorily explained.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

A T virtuous and pure in heart did pray,
One woman I would in deed or word today,
From whom I should I crave pardon? Master say.

A voice replied:
"From the sad child whose joy thou hast not stilled;
The goodly beast whose friend thou didst not stand;
The rose that died for water from thy hand."

—Emily Sargent Lewis.

This is a letter which I received last fall. It was written me by the widow with the invalid daughter whom I have told you about before in this column.

"What I want to tell you now is something very nice and the thought I am sending you is the result of this great kindness.

A friend of ours rented a cottage in a beautiful spot near a lake for a season, and now that school has opened she has had to go back to the city like many others in the beautiful month of September when the trees are putting on their lovely colors.

"This friend of mine sent for me and told me God had put a thought into her heart that it would be very beautiful if our girl could be brought down to this cottage for a few weeks.

"We asked the doctor and he said, 'Yes, by all means.' So here we are, so comfortable and such a lovely spot. I do hope it will be a benefit to my child. How she has longed all summer to get away from the city. She thought that if she only could she would get well and strong.

"The thought that I have for you came to me yesterday while going along the road to the store. I saw so many beautiful rooms shut up till next summer and I thought how much good could be done if some of these houses could be loaned to people who need it as badly as we do—someone who would thank God for a chance to breathe the pure, fresh air. There are about a dozen places here and just think of all the little places by the seaside and all over this lovely country which might be used to the glory of God. All it needs is just a little thought for the good of others."

I did not pass this letter on to you last summer because it came to me too late for use then.

I saved it to bring to you just after you had hired your cottage for this summer.

And now I suppose you have done that and are planning to go down the middle or last of June when school closes.

That means that during May and part of June "and what is so rare as a day in June?"—and if you have to return to school during part of September and all of October—and if there is anything rarer than a day in June it is undoubtedly a day in October—that cottage will be empty.

Can you afford to have it so?

"Afford" in the highest sense of the word, I mean of course, "afford" in the sense of your obligation to leave undone no kindness which you might have bestowed.

FATHER LEADS THE WAY.

All boys look to their fathers to lead the way. That's why it's so necessary for them to have good fathers. By good fathers I mean fathers who set them a right example. A father who helps them to distinguish right from wrong, not alone by precept, but by his own example.

Children are wonderful imitators, and they usually fasten upon some number of the family as their model. The boy usually takes his father. Until he is old enough to be discriminating, until he is able to draw his distinctions, he thinks everything his father does is just about right.

In fact, "father leads the way" for him in everything. Just watch him for awhile and see how true this is. You will find him trying to walk like his father, and he will try to do other things the way father does them. When he is old enough to express himself he will be voicing his father's sentiments, or telling other that he does certain things in certain ways because his father does.

The impressions a boy gets of his father at the impression that later rule the life of a man. What we get first-hand in our childhood stays by us as our strongest impressions in our mature years. If a boy's father is a manly, he remembers him always as just that, and as he grows in wisdom he will show that he has absorbed some of the traits that created that picture of his parent.

There is no finer legacy a man can leave his children than the knowledge that he tried to live right and tried to do right every day of his life. A man who recently died once told a friend that he would never have much to leave his family, but that he had endeavored to live so that any of his children "might walk straight down the middle of the street with their heads up." Meaning, of course, that he intended to lead a life that would cause no shame or sorrow upon them. He kept this promise to the end of his days.

And may it not be that his children will rise to grander heights of living because of his sense of responsibility? To each of us has come a legacy from the past, and that legacy somehow has a wonderful, though oftentimes unconscious, influence upon our lives. We are all children in the sense that we must have our models and our teachers, and oftentimes in moments of temptation the good example of some one else rises up to guide us to safer ground.

And the father who tries to be a good example to his children may, because of it, reach out in after years to save his offspring from some folly that means unhappiness if not destruction. No wealth that a man can leave can in any way compare in potency to the legacy of a good name. Therefore, our true tribute can be paid to the memory of a man than that he was a good example to his children and that he led them all the way with courage, purity and faithfulness. A memory like that is cherished and the good example is passed on to others, to fit into become a part of the treasure of the human family.

Flower Keeps Its Freshness.

A common South African flower possesses the valuable property of keeping fresh for two months or more after cutting. It is a white star of Bethlehem, producing a compact spike of flowers on a stiff, erect stalk 18 inches or two feet long. The flowers are of a thin and papery tissue, all white except the yellow anthers. It can be sent over as a cut flower from South Africa to England, and then lasts for weeks in water.

The Kitchen Cabinet

A Day With Leftovers.

The housewife with the "emergency mind" is one who is able to take bits of food and so arrange them in combination with different seasonings to deceive the very elect.

In these days of high prices, not an article of food should ever be thrown away. Many women still the voice of conscience by feeding the hens with food that with a little preparation would make a good dish for the family. Often the difference in the expense of a family is due to the food used and the amount wasted.

For a luncheon sandwich, put cold baked ham through a ricer, season with mustard, pepper and salt, a little tomato sauce and spread this on bread for a sandwich filling.

Butter slices of stale bread, lay in a buttered baking dish and cover with stewed pie plant; repeat with the bread and fruit and place in a hot oven. Cover with a meringue and brown or serve hot without.

A half a dozen nuts and a tablespoon of raisins chopped and steamed and stirred into a boiled frosting, then dropped on thin crackers make ideal marguerites to serve with tea or for any occasion when a small cake is acceptable.

When a little cold meat is left over and an equal part of cold cooked potato, chop fine and season well; make into little flat cakes, using a beaten egg to keep them in shape, and brown in a hot frying pan. Serve with a poached egg on the top of each little cake.

When a few cooked eggs are left, chop them and add to a white sauce to be used as a sauce for fish, or it may be served on well-buttered toast as a supper dish.

When half a cup of cherries or strawberries are left, use them in small steamed puddings with cream and sugar for a sauce. A cup of flour, a teaspoon of baking powder, a pinch of salt and milk enough to make a drop batter. Put a spoonful of the batter in a buttered cup, then a spoonful of cherries and another of batter. This will make five or six small puddings. Steam 15 minutes, setting the cups into boiling water and covering the kettle closely.

Nellie Napwell.

Aurora Gorealis.

According to a theory recently enunciated, the aurora borealis is formed of cathode rays, emitted by the sun and deflected by the terrestrial magnetic field in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The velocity of these cathode rays must be nearly equal to that of light, and very much greater than the velocity of cathode rays produced in the laboratory. Leonard concludes that these extremely "hard" cathode rays are emitted by unknown radio-active substances in the sun.

Not to Be Judged by Size.

An interesting and somewhat curious fact is that some of the tall men of genius have had moderate sized heads. Shelley, the poet, was tall, but had a small head; and some of the small men imbued with the divine spark had large heads, apparently proving that the size of the head has little to do with the quality of the brains.

Maid of the Heather

By Byron Williams

Oh, beautiful the fragrant night
And balm June the weather,
Which she and I, with fond delight,
Went gayly forth together—
And she was fairer than the sight
Of blossoms in the heather!
Beyond the rude vacation crowd
We wandered forth together,
And in the moonlight soft we vowed
That never more—no never—
The cold and heartless world, and proud
Our love should ever sever!
She left to seek a foreign shore—
Her billet doux were clever—
And then, somehow, she wrote no more
Of days we spent together.
Her love is now of cherished lore—
A chapter of the heather.
But never come vacation days
Of balmy June-time weather,
But I recall where sunset plays
Upon the dunes and heather
And long to tread with her the way
Now lost to me forever.

NAPOLEON'S LAST DAYS.

May 5.—On May 5, 1821 Napoleon fought his last battle. Death was the adversary and the winner. The last battle ground was the island of St. Helena. An iron railing protected the simple tablet and weeping willows over the grave. The story of hardship endured by Napoleon during his confinement and last hours on St. Helena was told to his beloved France and the nation rose in sympathy and demand of the return of the remains of their beloved emperor. Just 25 years from the time Napoleon landed on St. Helena as a captive, his remains were returned to Paris and placed in the beautiful mausoleum which had been prepared in the church of the Invalides.

The return of the dead hero was marked by all the respect and pomp a nation could show. Beneath the lofty dome of the church coffin was placed, thus fulfilling the last wish of Napoleon, that "It is my wish that my ashes repose on the banks of the Seine, in the midst of the French people I loved so well."

New Contest for Women Readers

Tomorrow, Saturday, is the day the letters on the subject of the garden are to be sent in to enter this latest contest of the Feature Editor. Of course you have them all ready to mail or leave at the office and their contents will be a great help to others who plan a garden, have one planted or intend to have one.

I watched a gardener plant peas last evening and could not but be impressed with the thought that those little peas dropped into the ground in time would become wonderful big plants covered with pods furnishing many a meal for the entire family. Just across the dividing fence the amateur gardener neighbor was putting in two rows of potatoes. Here again nature works its wonders.

I wandered down the planting block and found another neighbor plucking her flower seeds with promise of many a delightful meal on the table during the summer months. Across the street two small boys were raking the yard while their mother stood by directing and heard her promise that they should have a little garden all their own, despite the fact they were too small to enter the "Twilight Club's" contest.

This is the time to get close to nature, to study its moods and the wonders. One does not have to go down to the sea in boats to see the wonders of God, as did poor Robinson Crusoe, but stay right at home and watch nature care for the little seeds that are planted.

Have your articles written on one side of the paper only. Continue them to two hundred words and be sure and have them in the Gazette by tomorrow. In Saturday's paper will come the plans for next week's contest with suitable prizes offered for the best articles. The following is the list of prizes for the present week.

First prize—One dollar.

Second prize—"Silverware", silver cleaner.

Third prize—Fifty cents.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH TINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN

THE BALANCED RATION.

Many single foods contain a better balanced ration than the average person gets by mixing many articles indiscriminately at the same meal. Wheat is deficient in fat, but fat can be made from its starch; oats and corn contain more fat. Unpolished rice contains an almost perfect balance, and its starch is very easily digested. Bananas contain little oil and hardly enough protein, yet marked gain in endurance has been observed in athletes under my direction on an exclusive diet of bananas. The work done by the Japanese workman on unpolished rice is well known. An extraordinary waste of vitality ordinarily results from the excessive mixing of foods, while the balance is not as good as could be had from combining two or at most three foods. Time is required for adaptation to a new diet, but efficiency can be very largely increased even after a few weeks' adaptation.

PRESENTED FATHER GOEBEL WITH AUTO

Parishioners of St. Mary's Church Expressed Appreciation of Pastor's Efforts in Getting Money For New Hall.

Expressing their appreciation of his efforts in collecting the funds which made possible the remodeling of the building now used as St. Mary's hall, a few of the parishioners of St. Mary's church yesterday presented Father William A. Goebel, pastor of the church with a new 12 M. P. automobile. The funds to pay for the work on the building were all collected by Fr. Goebel, who worked industriously and faithfully toward that end and the remodeling building is a tribute to his efforts. The entire amount received was subscribed for out of the city. The hall was formally opened a short time ago.

HOLLOW LOG USED TO CATCH TROUT

Poor Commissioner Tells Fishing Yarn of Methods of Capturing Trout in California in Early Days.

The prize fishing story of the year was related the other day by Poor Commissioner Asa Anderson to a small coterie of friends and he stated that he was willing to attest to the truthfulness of the tale.

The scene of the yarn was laid in the Yosemite Valley in California, where Mr. Anderson was living a number of years ago. According to his statement, near the cabin which served as his home was a creek, which was full of trout, although the fish were rather hard to catch. Lacking the proper fishing tackle, Mr. Anderson one day set out to get a new fish for dinner and he was successful in his attempt. The way of securing the fish shows he was familiar with the habits of the trout.

Here is the method which he says he used to capture the wily denizens of the stream:

"Near the cabin was a hollow tree which had been blown down by a storm. A section of this was sawed off and dropped in the stream. Then Mr. Anderson and a companion thrust up and down the creek, frightening the trout and leaving the log as the only place of refuge from the men. After they had done this for some time the log was lifted out of the water. Three trout were in it in a number of a very delectable article of food at any time and trout was the piece de resistance for a number of meals following that fishing trip."

If you don't believe this true, ask Mr. Anderson. He may also have some other bits of interest concerning fishing, hunting or other sports which he will be willing to relate to you.

Seeker After Knowledge.
Little Robert one day observed his mother making tea. "What kind of tea is that mamma?" he asked. "Why, I don't recall the name. Why do you ask?" "I was just wondering whether it was the Libby tea we sing about at school,"—Dullinator.

BIBLE CLASSES HELD BANQUET LAST NIGHT

Members of Y. M. C. A. Classes Gathered At Banquet Held Last Evening.

Some fifty-six members of the Y. M. C. A. Bible classes held a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening, marking the close of the season of study. There have been six classes organized in the study of various problems of practical life as presented in the sacred text and some thirty men have been enrolled.

Following the banquet held T. M. Anderson, ex-treasurer of the Y. M. C. A., presided at the banquet. He introduced the first speaker on the program, Harold Mohr of class number five. His subject was "Upward and Onward" and he related in a very interesting way what had been his experience in the study and some of the things which he believed would aid ways remain with him. The banquet was a success and was very well pointed out.

Roy Cannon in the interclass prophesy portrayed the different members in their future work with humorous thrusts at various members. D. Stephens spoke on the Bible as a guide to health, with the blue match could be gained from its study regarding the care of the body.

Various other were called upon for brief talks following the completion of the regular program. P. P. Lewis expressed the belief that with more and more study of the Bible we ever find new ideas and new phases, many things often appearing in a different light as we study them again. Consequently he urged that the study of the Book of Books be continued throughout life.

W. W. Dale and S. M. Smith offered a few brief remarks in which they told of the value of such courses of study as had just been completed. They were strongly in favor of a continuance of the work another season and prophesied an increased enrollment.

The musical portion of the program was supplied by Fred Palmerton and George Moore.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Now that Spring has arrived, and all our birds are coming back, it is a good time to make use of the splendid collection of books, to be found in the children's room of the public library. Then, too, there are excellent descriptions of the life of the birds, the habits and the habits of the birds which will prove of help in the study of the birds. At this season of the year, the high school students will find the natural science books of great help in the study of Botany.

The teachers who are interested in preparing Arbor Day programs will find helpful suggestions on the Arbor Day Bulletin and in the back numbers of the Arbor Day Annual. All of these are to be found in the children's room of the public library.

Magazine Contents.

It Seems Impossible,
But Maybe It Is True

The following article appeared last Sunday in the Milwaukee Free Press under an Evansville date line. It may be true. Well, read it carefully and then consider matters fully. Evansville is the driest town in the state, remember, and always has been.

"When a dairyman has a herd of drunken cattle on his hands he has his troubles, and such an instance happened near here recently. The cattle were turned out to pasture and a quantity of apples had been carried out and dumped, lying in a mellow state from the winter sorting.

"These cattle have a penchant for apples, and the sight of these was too much for their usually placid temperaments. The dairy wife fence between proved no barrier at all and shortly the entire herd was munching peacefully but assiduously upon the discarded product.

"When the cows were driven in that night they were late; furthermore, their actions were peculiar. One thrust her head into the starched and trust to her knees. Others found difficulty in finding their regular stalls, and a majority leaned against the sides for support at times. The quantity of milk also, was woefully short, which provoked a question from the dairyman. The boy who had driven in the cattle vouchsafed the information that they had been found in the orchard and the cut was out of the bag.

"The cows were turned out into the barnyard again where the fresh air might assist them in working off their 'jag,' but the sight was too ludicrous for the dairyman, who enjoyed a hearty laugh at their expense. They reeled and staggered for all the world like humans. Some went to their knees almost at once and layed into a stupor; but all had in their usually bright eyes a look of liquor and distant contemplation that was in itself sufficient proof of the apple elder jag.

"It was several days before the herd worked off the effects of its day of dissipation and got the milk supply back to normal."

KEITH OF THE BORDER

A TALE OF THE PLAINS

By RANDALL DARRISH

"He'll remain there all right until his men find him," he declared, positively, "and that ought to give us a good six hours' start. Come, Miss Hope, every minute counts now."

He held her arm, not unconscious of its round shapeliness, as he helped her down the rather steep bank through the dense gloom. Then the two men plied hands, and carrying her between them, waded the shallow stream. The horses, not yet sufficiently rested to be frisky, accepted their sudden meekness, and, with scarcely a word spoken, the three rode away silently into the gloom of the night.

CHAPTER XII.

Through the Night Shadows.

Keith had very little to guide him, as he could not determine whether his mysterious cabin on the Salt Fork was to east or west of the usual cattle trail leading down to the Canadian. Yet he felt reasonably assured that the general trend of the country lying between the smaller stream and the valley of the Arkansas would be similar to that with which he was already acquainted. It was merely a wild stretch of sandy desolation, across which their horses would leave scarcely any trail, and even that little would be quickly obliterated by the first puff of wind. As they drew in toward the river valley this plain would change into sand dunes, baffling and confusing, but no matter how hard they pressed forward, it must be daylight long before they could hope to reach these, and this would give him opportunity to spy out some familiar landmark which would guide them to the ford. Meanwhile, he must head as directly north as possible, trusting the horses to find footing.

It was plain instinct, or rather long training in the open, which enabled him to retain any true sense of direction, for beyond the narrow fringe of cottonwoods along the stream, nothing was visible, the eyes scarcely able even to distinguish where earth and sky met. They advanced across a bare level, without elevation or depression, yet the sand appeared sufficiently solid, so that their horses were forced into a swinging lunge, and they seemed to fairly press aside the black curtain, which as instantly swung shut once more, and closed them in. The pounding hoofs made little noise, and they pressed steadily onward, closely bunched together, so as not to lose each other, dim, spectral shadows flitting through the night, a very part of that grim desolation surrounding them. No one of the three felt like speaking; the gloomy, brooding darkness oppressed them, their vagrant thoughts assuming the tinge of their surroundings; their hope centered on escape. Keith rode, grasping the reins of the woman's horse in his left hand, baffled. Now, I think I ought to have given me the clue." She straightened up; glancing questioningly at him through the darkness.

"This is what I mean, Miss Hope. I suspect that cabin to be the rendezvous of those fellows, and I half believe Hawley to be their leader."

"Then you will report all this to the authorities?"

He smiled grimly, his lips compressed.

"I hardly think so; at least, not for the present. I am not blood-thirsty, or enamored of man-hunting, but I happen to have a personal interest in this particular affair which I should prefer to settle alone." He paused, swiftly reviewing the circumstances of their short acquaintance, and as suddenly determined to trust her discretion. Deep down in his heart he rather wanted her to know, "The fact of the matter is, that Neb and I here were the ones that particular posse were trailing."

"You!" her voice faltered. "He said those men were under arrest for murder, and had broken jail."

"He also said it was easy to convict men in this country if you only know how. It is true we broke jail, but only in order to save our lives; it was the only way. Technically, we are outlaws, and now run the risk of immediate re-arrest by returning north of the Arkansas. We came to you fugitives; I was charged with murder, the negro with assault. So, you see, Miss Hope, the desperate class of men you are now associating with."

The slight bitterness in his tone stung the girl into resentment. She was looking straight at him, but in the gloom he could not discern the expression of her eyes.

"I don't believe it," she exclaimed decisively, "you—you do not look like that!"

"My appearance may be sufficient to convince you," he returned, rather dryly, "but would weigh little before a Western court. Unfortunately, the evidence was strong against me; or would have been had the case ever come to a trial. The strange thing about it was that both warrants were sworn out by the same complainant, and apparently for a similar purpose—'Black Bart' Hawley."

"What purpose?"

"To keep us from telling what we know regarding a certain crime, in which either he, or some of his intimate friends, were deeply interested."

"But it would all come out at the trial, wouldn't it?"

"There was to be no trial; Judge Lynch settles the majority of such cases out here at present. It is extremely simple. Listen, and I will tell you the story."

He reviewed briefly those occurrences leading directly up to his arrest, saying little regarding the horrors of that scene witnessed near the Cimmaron Crossing, but making sufficiently clear his very slight connection with it, and the reason those who were guilty of the crime were so anxious to get him out of the way. She listened intently, asking few questions, until he ended. Then they both looked up, conscious that dawn was becoming gray in the east. Keith's first thought was one of relief—the bright sky showed him they were riding straight north.

He said he knew Miss Gilbert and they were friends, but to circulate a report of a closer attachment was really unfair to Miss Gilbert.
